

Seth Crockford '04

Hi Bill-

The team was pretty strong through my senior year in 2004 but I think fell off considerably and for at least 5 years starting in 05 for reasons that I can only partly explain.

Part of it was probably a failure in leadership in 03 and 04 teams to recruit and develop talent in the younger classes.

Our 2004 team was very top heavy and played almost all seniors on a tight rotation to the detriment of future development. That was the last year we were competitive in the region before the addition of D3, losing to Dartmouth on universe in the back door semis. They went on to nationals.

The culture of the team in the following few years stayed tight knit and very socially active but I think maybe less focused on competition.